

Menopause Education Webinar for Clinicians

A case-by-case guide to managing menopause presentations, including complex cases and special considerations.

MenoECHO™ May 27th 2024, 6pm - 7pm

Overview

The online education sessions will include a presentation of one or more of case studies followed by a short presentation.

In the upcoming education session we will discuss a perimenopausal woman with migraines and genitourinary symptoms, and a case of a perimenopausal woman with Factor V Leiden and previous cavernous sinus thrombosis.

Audience

This free online event is aimed primarily at GPs, endocrinologists, gynaecologists, nurses and allied health professionals. CPD certificates will be available for self reporting. Registration is essential to receive the zoom link. Registrants will then be emailed with information for future MenoECHO™ sessions which will be held bimonthly.
